I, Viktor Popov, owner of Victor Transportation received your last letter from Joy Loveland. Thank you for giving me extra two weeks in order to find a lawyer.

I looked around for attornies and find out that the service is pretty high. The lawyers in New York City are expensive, they charge at least $ 300 an hour and they want to get paid up front. It goes from $ 8500 to $ 12000. I can not afford so big retaining fees.

I decided to represent myself without a lawyer. I am not hiding or trying to avoid the judgement. I am ready to answer all your questions during cross examination or deliver an offisial statement about my case.

I would like to negotiate mutially benefiacial agreement with your law firm avoiding lawsuit.

Sincerely,

Viktor Popov
